Sound Dragons roar at F. G. Miller matinee concert

Traditionally, knights went out on quests to slay dragons. At F. G. Miller High School, however, the Crusaders welcomed the Sound Dragons with open arms, at last Thursday afternoon's pre-Easter concert.

Organized by FGM teacher Colin Bjorkman and with Rob Walker providing the sound system and technical expertise, the concert started off with the popular local group, "Who's Your Daddy?" featuring Terry Parenteau on vocals, Darcy Stafford on guitar, Matt Buksa with a powerful bass and TJ Jabush, back all the way from Whitecourt, on drums.

Megan Dorey was backed up by a group of dancers as she sang "I Will Survive."

Another popular local band is Bliss, with Billy Turner's vocals and guitar, Garret Poulin's bass and Kyle Frisby's inspired work on the drums joined by new student Curtis Desjarlais, a real asset on guitar.

The least experienced band on the program, Sediction, is made up of junior high students Josh Boyko, Addison Bartholomew, Curtis Beardy and Ryan Merkel, but what they lack in experience, they more than made up for in enthusiasm, with good response from the audience.

MC Brian Poitras told the students that the draw to help send Jeffrey Young to the Mayo Clinic was a huge success, with all tickets sold and $300 going toward helping this Grade 7 Crusader. Millennium quarter sets were won by Mr. Boratynec, Mr. Bjorkman, June Pettipas, Mike MacDonald and Ralph Kryvenchuk. Winner of the Roman coin was Roberta Scott, the Beanie Tricks Puppy went to Donna Yaremkevich and the Beanie Baby teddy bear to Tim and Connie Smereka. The grand prize, an autographed and framed picture of Wayne Gretzky, went to Lisa Braga.

Back to the concert, teachers Colin Bjorkman and Kelly Burke took the stage to perform an acoustic guitar classic, "All Night Long."

Bjorkman also accompanied Edmonton guest artist Clint McKendrick, EMERGENCY PERSONNEL rush to the aid of the driver of a vehicle involved in a four vehicle pile-up on Highway 41 during Tuesday's snowstorm.

Semi driver charged in crash

An Elk Point driver escaped with only minor injuries Wednesday evening around 6 p.m., when the rear end of his 1987 Chev Monte Carlo was totally demolished in a collision with two semi trucks on Highway 41 in Elk Point.

The northbound car was waiting to make a left hand turn onto 53 Avenue when it was rear-ended by a semi, causing the car to enter the southbound lane and collide with a second semi. A southbound pickup swerved to avoid hitting the wreck and received minor damage.

Christopher Bueckert of Elk Point was treated for cuts and bruises at Elk Point Health Centre and released. The driver of the semi that rear-ended the car has been charged by RCMP with driving without due care and attention under the Highway Traffic Act.

Road conditions at the time were wet and slushy.

A Saskatoon truck driver involved in a single vehicle crash just after 3 p.m. that afternoon was not so lucky. He was taken to Elk Point Health Centre and later transferred to the University Hospital with possible internal injuries after his tanker truck, hauling a full load of hydrochloric acid, lost control traveling northbound on Highway 28, 9.6 kilometers north of Elk Point, entered the east ditch and rolled. RCMP, fire and ambulance attended the scene and eventually extricated driver Leslie Groat. Dangerous goods personnel were also called to the scene. None of the cargo was spilled.

Heavy snowfall and icy, slushy road conditions were said by RCMP to be the main contributing factor.

Town records surplus for 2000

The Town of Elk Point's revenues for 2000 came in $198,000 over budget, and even with a hefty 94,000 going to reserves and coping with unexpected expenses, they still ended up with a $12,892 surplus, according to auditor Barb McCarthy.

Ms McCarthy went over the audited financial statement with Council at their April meeting, and told Council last week to "keep the same staff - they're doing an excellent job." Copies of the financial statement are now available to ratepayers at the Town Office.

Council's spending plans for 2001 include setting aside approximately $30,000 to continue sprucing up downtown Elk Point. Businesses in the downtown area needing a fresh coat of paint may be eligible for a business grant, which would pay a major portion of the cost of paint and labor for the spruce-up.

The Town had earlier considered the Main Street Alberta program, but do not have enough vintage buildings to qualify. Also, Mayor hardest guitar song to play, the amazing and unfathomable "Far Beyond the Sun."

Who's Your Daddy returned to wind up the show, showing their versatile talent with an original song and Creed's "Arms Wide Open."

Council approves annexation

Ed Buck said, "I don't feel the business people could have afforded it." And nor could the Town. "It was $80,000 for the coordinator's salary alone." Town Manager Myron Goyan was asked to get prices on paint from local suppliers as well as to determine the cost of labor for the project. Business owners would then be invited to discuss the project.

Town Council has met with their County counterparts to discuss annexation, and have agreed that taxation on the property can remain at County levels for the next ten years as long as the property remains undeveloped. Property owners would have the choice of paying the lower rate of the two taxes during that time. If the property were subdivided and developed, taxes would be assessed under Town rates. Agreement to this condition has been forwarded to the County.

Last call for ball! Final registration Thursday

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

Last call for ball. Seems like almost every year we have to put out a call for ball. So here's the pitch. It's one, two, three strikes and you're out at the old ball game. Ball season is only a few weeks away, we have already had two registrations and will be having the third and final registration on Thursday night, April 19 at 7 p.m. at the A. G. Ross Arena. So get out and register. If you can't make the final registration, forms are in both of the schools, pick one up, fill it out, or call Laverne Wilson at 724-3878. I know it's hard to compete with NHL playoffs, especially the nights when the Oilers or the Leafs are playing but it's really important to get the numbers together so we can make a decision on the teams. League play starts May 1. If we don't have a team at a certain level, players who do wish to play will have the opportunity to go elsewhere to join a team.

Where are all the ball players? Who's to blame for the falling off of this great American game? TV, summer hockey, soccer, golf, slow pitch, Nintendo and computer games and parties, parties, parties. OK, I can see the kids who are in soccer, but what about all the rest of them? Parents, it's time to get your kids off the couch, put away their Nintendo and computer games for a few months, it will pay off big time in a few years.

Summer hockey, well, most experts agree kids need a break from hockey, to do other sports, and did you know that almost all the players in the NHL are good athletes in all sports, and most of them play ball in the summer, not hockey. How about golfing? Well, let's face it, you can play ball and golf. So golf on the nights or weekends when you don't play ball, then golf the rest of the summer if you wish. Slow pitch, that's the beer league of ball, wait until after you're finished with minor ball, then get into slow pitch. As for the parties, parties, parties, there will always be parties every weekend somewhere, so what if you miss a few.

What are the benefits of playing ball? First of all it's cheap, and payment plans can be arranged if necessary. The season for most teams is only two months long, it won't interfere with your summer holidays. Parents, you don't have to work bingos or concessions, the most you may have to do is drive your kids to practice or the games once in a while. Watching the game is a good form of stress relief and/or relaxation. There's not nearly as much pressure in ball as in hockey, no one really expects their kid to make the major leagues in ball. Hockey, well I'm a big fan of hockey, everyone knows that, but let's not go there today!

And now it's time once again for the sports trivia question of the week. What player quit the Winnipeg Jets to embark on a successful major league baseball career? Last week we finally stumped Mr. Campbell with our question, who traded a player for a bus.

Volunteers especially appreciated in this special year

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

The spirit of helping is alive all over our great nation and especially in our community of Elk Point. We would like to thank everyone for all the valuable community service you give. Three cheers for volunteers!

Just in case you don't know what all the fuss is about, let me tell you about the International Year of Volunteers. The year 2001 has been designated by the United Nations as the International Year of Volunteers. Throughout the year, communities across the world will be paying tribute to the many people that make our communities safer, stronger and more vibrant - our volunteers.

Alberta will be honoring its volunteers in many ways throughout the year by implementing different activities. One such activity that has a deadline of being postmarked by May 11, 2001 is the "Volunteer Spirit Photo Contest." The Wild Rose Foundation IYV 2001 Photo Contest would like Alberta volunteers to be seen! By capturing Alberta's volunteers in action, not only can communities illustrate just how much time and energy is put into society by volunteers, but also to showcase the types of activities volunteers in Alberta participate in. So, come on, Elk Point community people, enter this contest. Take a picture of our volunteers in action and show how valuable they really are to all of us. Contact the FCSS office for further details.

To help you get in the swing of celebrating our volunteers, did you know that next week, April 22 to 28 is National Volunteer Appreciation Week! So to all the community clubs and organizations, let me ask you if you are doing something to recognize your volunteers? To help you recognize your volunteers, the FCSS office has purchased the Alberta Volunteer recognition book-marks. Alberta's IYV theme, "A Year for your organization. Just give us a call. Let us recognize our volunteers in the Elk Point community.

Have you ever wondered why a volunteer volunteers? Could it be War II. He had been interested in ancient ruins. There was a fascination in his observing why some columns still stood and others had toppled over. He noticed that very frequently those that were still standing did so because they were bearing a weight on top. He thought about this and thought there should be a parallel principle in leadership. For example, those who stand faithful to their volunteer commitment are often those who bear some weight of responsibility. Those involved are those more likely to be committed.

I would like to liken that thought to our volunteers in the community of Elk Point. To observe our volunteers, is to observe that they are faithful, responsible and committed. We are a fortunate community to have each of you as our volunteers! Thank you, everyone!

CRIME STOPPERS

By Cst. J. E. McDonald
Elk Point RCMP Detachment

Elk Point RCMP are investigating two residential break-ins that occurred in the north end of Elk Point and are believed to have taken place in the early morning hours of Tuesday, March 2, 2001. The suspect or suspects were likely on foot and gained entry through the front of the houses with force.

Items taken consisted primarily of cash and jewelry (rings, watches and earrings) although a black leather wallet and a light grey tape Walkman were also stolen.

Anyone with information is asked to call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or the Elk Point RCMP Detachment at (780) 724-3829.

Crime Stoppers will pay up to $2000 for information leading to the arrest of the person(s) responsible for this or any crime. You do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest you qualify for an award.

Ukrainian Dancers entertain at Parkview

Members of the Senior and Junior Ukrainian Dance groups entertained the residents of Parkview Extended Care last Tuesday, bringing a bright note to a stormy day.

■ From Parliament Hill

Benoit re-introduces his gopher bill

OTTAWA - Leon Benoit, Member of Parliament for Lakeland, has re-introduced his Private Member's Bill titled: An Act to amend the Farm Income Protection Act (Crop damage by gophers).

Benoit's bill compensates farmers whose ability to use a product that has previously been commonly used to protect a crop from damage by pests has been limited by law. The bill specifically emphasizes crop damage by gophers. Benoit had previously introduced this bill in the last Parliament but it was never chosen for debate.

"This is an important bill to farmers, ranchers and others in western Canada," stated Benoit in the House of Commons. "My bill will hopefully lead to restoring the effective poison which really works to control gophers. Lack of an effective poison has cost farmers tens of millions of dollars a year."

Dancers win in Vermilion

Elk Point Ukrainian Dancers won a total of 11 medals and two prestigious awards at the Ukrainian Dance Festival in Vermilion, April 6 and 7.

The Beginner group brought home a gold medal for an exemplary mark of 90 in their Poltavski, while the Junior group received two bronze medals, for 79 in their Poltava and 78 in their Hutzul.

The Intermediate dancers received three silver medals, for 85 in Buko, and 80 in Poltavski, as well as an award for the Highest Mark in a Small Group, an 83 point silver medal for their Transcarpathian Dance.

The Senior group won two silver medals, for 84 in Transcarpathian and 82 in Hopak, and two gold medals, including a 91 for Volyn and a 95 point gold for their Buko Dance, which brought them an award for the Most Promising Rural Group. They were invited back on Sunday to showcase "Bukovenski Tenetz" in the final concert.

The Adult group also brought home a gold medal.

This past week, two groups of dancers showed off their skills for the residents at Parkview Extended Care. Dancers were also scheduled to perform at Heritage Lodge, but were forced to reschedule to a later date because heavy snowfall made travel that evening hazardous.

The community will have an opportunity to see all the dancers at their best in the Spring Concert coming up on the first weekend in May.

■ Our Past

Watching hockey from a skybox

By Steve Andrishak
Review Contributor

One night about 12 years ago I got a phone call from my son John who was both living and working in the city of Edmonton. He wanted to know if I wanted to see an NHL hockey game between the Edmonton Oilers and the St. Louis Blues at the Coliseum. I agreed, and about three nights later we arrived early at the Coliseum. At that time, John was dating a nurse who worked in a large clinic. At their annual Christmas party, she won a pair of tickets to the Edmonton-St. Louis game and since she wasn't interested in hockey games, she gave the tickets to John.

We had a difficult time finding our seats and finally we asked an attendant. We were told they were skybox tickets and that we would have to take an elevator to the next level.

Once there, we had no trouble finding the right sky-box and were allowed into a sizable room which had a couple of chesterfields, a fridge loaded with beer and pop, a restroom and a table. There were large containers of hot popcorn.

We helped ourselves and then stepped into the viewing section. Our skybox was located on the east wall, almost in line with centre ice. Because of its location, it probably was the highest priced skybox in the entire arena.

About 20 minutes after we arrived, a group of about five well-dressed people walked in. They must have known we were holders of two tickets from the draw, otherwise they would have asked us to leave.

When I left home I didn't know we would be sitting in a skybox to watch the game and didn't bother to take my binoculars. Consequently, I had trouble seeing the game. You were a long way from the action and the players looked like ants moving around - not hockey players. This was in the days when the Oilers were winning Stanley Cups. Players like Gretzky, Fuhr, Kurri, Anderson, Messier and Semenko were still on their roster at the time. The game ended 4-2 for the Oilers. I still have the program of the game which I kept for a souvenir.

Skyboxes at the Coliseum were sold to large businesses and corporations which paid $50,000 annually and up to view their Oiler games. No doubt they were income tax deductible.

Their purpose was to provide additional revenue for the teams which were hard pressed to stay in the league due to the high cost of operation.

It was an experience watching this game from a skybox but it's something I wouldn't want to do over again.

The view five or six rows up in the main seating section is much better than watching the game from a skybox which is too far from the ice surface.

Elementary science fair highlights open house

Two rooms packed with science fair exhibits highlighted last Monday's open house at Elk Point Elementary School, as students and staff kicked off their very own Education Week.

Hallways and classrooms were decorated with student artwork and projects of all kinds, from "funny bunnies" to kites "soaring into spring," to gaily multicolored Easter eggs and carefully executed nature drawings.

Mrs. Conrad's classroom resembled an ocean full of whales and dolphins. Mrs. Buryn's featured a "Wizard's Castle" complete with wizard, while in Mr. Hymanyk's "Risk Free Classroom," a shoot from his famous banana tree is thriving. Miss Ockerman's ECS room has gone prehistoric, with a hallway display of Kindersaurus footprint casts and a bulletin board of dinosaur dioramas. Rainbows, poetry, self portraits and photos of the students at work and play show the lighthearted mood of the school as spring arrives in Elk Point.

The school library was one of the busiest areas Monday night, with the annual Book Fair in progress and a good selection of books, posters, computer software and more for all ages to choose from.

Grade 4 and 5 shared one room of the Science Fair, with awards of excellence going to Danny Carlson and Ryan Marцениuk, Grade 4A, with a fine display of the solar system, Alex Buck, 4B, with a graphic display on the effects of pop on teeth, Elyse Anton-Roberta and Natalie Maas, 5A, answering the question, "Why do things float?" while Erin Lindquist and Megan Millar, 5B, went one step further than the television commercials as they put paper "Towels to the test". Other displays showed an electric house alarm system, tornadoes, "the strange flowing rock," tastebuds and monkeys.

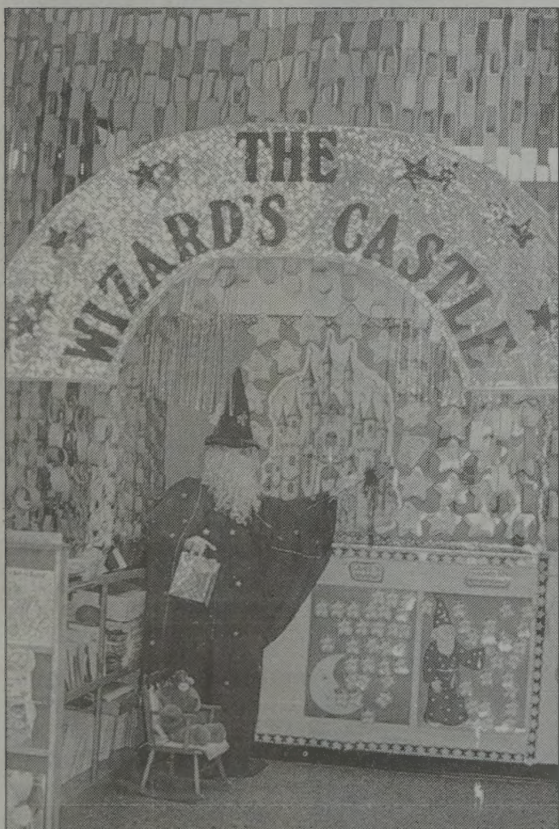

In the winning Grade 3 and 6 displays, Renee Adams, 3B, had a unique demonstration on "Mummification," complete with a semi-mummified weasel, and Brittany Buryn, Sage Lowry and Cassy Cochrane, 6B, showed the method used to determine what ink was used on paper, in their very interesting display on "Paper Chromatography." Other displays covered the spectrum from tornadoes and hovercrafts to magnetic force, the solar system, whales and investigation of evidence. Good work, everyone!

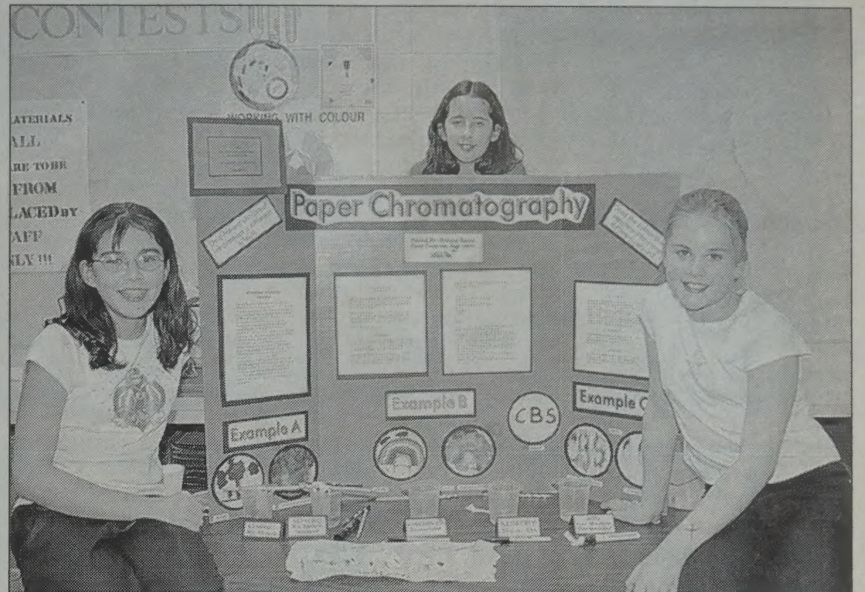

YOUNG SCIENTIST Alex Buck displays the detrimental results soft drinks can have on tooth enamel in his experiment.

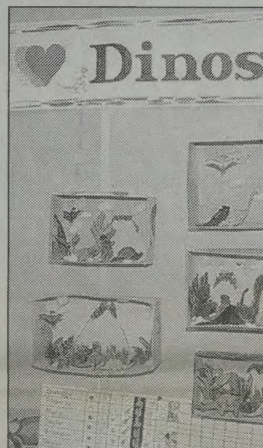

WHICH IS REALLY BEST? Erin Lindquist and (not shown) Megan Millar put four brands of paper towels to the test in their winning experiment.

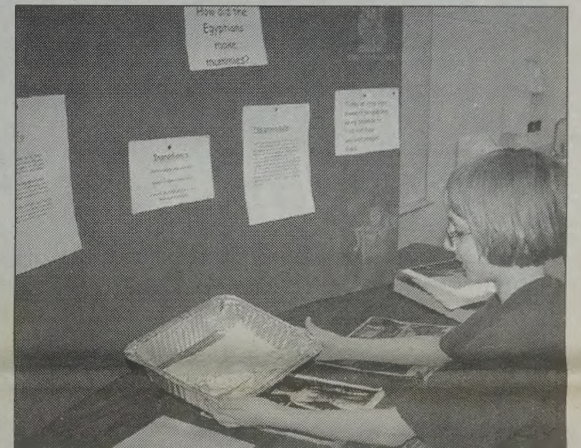

OFF TO SEE THE WIZARD - Mrs. Buryn's classroom is a magical place, with this pointy-hatted wizard presiding over a very special corner.

DINOSAURS REIGN in Miss Ockerman's ECS classroom, with many prehistoric scenes.

YOUNG STUDENT EXPLORES ANCIENT SCIENCE - Renee Adams mummified a small mammal for her science fair exhibit, which even included an x-ray of the creature.

Get on board!

You can help to build strong children, families and communities.

If you are a community-minded person who has a sincere concern for the well-being of children and families, you are needed to serve as a board member for the Child and Family Services Authority in your area.

Child and Family Services Authorities throughout Alberta plan and oversee the programs and services for children, youth and families in their region.

As several board positions are designated for Aboriginal members, applications are encouraged from Aboriginal applicants.

To be considered as a board member for a Child and Family Services Authority you must:

- Have an interest in the services provided to children and families.
- Be knowledgeable about your community and its priorities.
- Attend board meetings and activities three to five days each month.
- Understand the responsibilities of a policy maker.
- Volunteer, professional or consumer experience with child and protection services, community services, education, services for children with special needs, health, justice or youth services.
- Residency in the region.

Board members will receive an honorarium and out-of-pocket expenses for travel. The closing date for applications is Monday, April 30, 2001.

FGM students continue their journey: on to Greece

By Brian Poltras

F. G. Miller Student Journalist

We arrived in Greece at about noon and then we had a relaxing trip to Delphi. Basically, the whole day was traveling, except for the night when we got to do some good souvenir shopping in the Delphi shops. We were surprised to hear the song "Ride With Me" by Nelly playing in one of the shops. I think the shopkeeper was equally surprised to have 15 kids walk into his shop and start singing the song on the radio. There wasn't a great deal of American music over there so we were happy to hear even one song.

The next day had us tour Delphi, the navel of the earth. We saw the temple of Apollo, where according to legend, the god communicated with mortals. This was a tranquil place, lots of columns and buildings made of stone. We would then travel the rest of the way to Athens, the birthplace of western civilization. That night we all took a little walk and saw how the common Greek person lives. The next day was our last day of the trip and it was going to be full.

When we woke up we were taken to the Acropolis. The walk to the top was pretty tough as rain was falling and very strong winds were blowing. Once at the top we saw the Parthenon and the temple of Athena Nike. Our tour guide filled us with information about Greek mythology and I think the only person who picked it all up was John Braga. I swear this kid is a genius. There is nothing he doesn't know. John was scared to go home because he thought he changed a little. Don't worry, Mrs. Braga, we didn't change your boy, but he did have a few new experiences. We all hope John had fun and made some new friends. Stephen Kozina, the poor guy, missed all of this because he sprained his ankle coming down the steps at the hotel. Stephen's fine, but a little bitter he missed the fun.

After the Acropolis, we were driven somewhere I had been waiting to see my entire life: the original Olympic Stadium. It was an awesome feeling, standing where the first modern Olympics were held. I could have stood in that one spot for five hours if they would have let me.

We were taken back to the hotel before we all went shopping in downtown Athens. We spent about four hours walking around the city and a few of us ended up getting lost. We felt dumb, but at least we made it back to the hotel. Once back at the hotel, we all dressed in our best to go out on our last night on the trip. Everybody looked good but nobody as good as Bronwyn Bilak and Kirsty Lindquist, especially with the bouquet of flowers they were given by the one guy from Hinton. He took the two girls out, one on each arm. We all enjoyed Greek food and live entertainment. We were treated to a few Greek songs, some excellent Greek dancers, and finally a belly dancer. It was a great way to end our trip.

We went back to the hotel and got on the bus, because our plane left Athens at just after four in the morning. After a few stops, we arrived in Edmonton at about 8:30 p.m. We were all tired, but happy to be home.

All in all, it was a great trip. We learned so much, had a tremendous amount of fun, we made lots of new friends, and the people that we were friends with, were even closer now.

I know there are those of you who are going to be, like, hey Brian, so what really happened on the trip? If you want to know the secrets of the Italy and Greece trip, you'll have to stop by F. G. and talk to someone who went on the trip. We're all dying to tell some stories. Until next time...

Intersection collisions yield minor injuries

Elk Point RCMP report two collisions on March 31, both of which occurred at intersections.

At approximately 6:10 p.m., a 1996 Dodge pickup traveling westbound on 49th Avenue in Elk Point was in collision with a 1985 Chrysler LeBaron traveling northbound on 53 Street, which failed to yield to the pickup. Minor injuries were sustained by three of four occupants of the car, while the other occupant and the driver and lone occupant of the truck were unhurt.

Details are sketchy on a collision four hours later on the Fishing Lake Metis Settlement. A 1984 Chev Celebrity was traveling northbound and collided head on at a T intersection with a 1988 Dodge pickup that had been traveling westbound. Police, fire and ambulance attended the scene. One vehicle burned. The driver and lone occupant of the Chev received facial cuts, one occupant of the pickup sustained a knee injury while the other two people in the vehicle were taken to hospital for observation. Alcohol may have been a factor.

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

County readers rejoice! County joins Northern Lights

By Daphne Schnurer
Librarian

The County of St. Paul's application to join the Northern Lights Library System has been accepted, effective April 1, 2001. Therefore, membership for County and Town residents will be the same, at $10 for adults, $15 for family, $5 for seniors, children and students. Membership is good for one year from the time of purchase. Come on in, County patrons, and catch up on all our great new books.

I encourage all our patrons to place their own holds on the newest books available. You can sign up in advance and ensure that you can read a copy of the hottest title as soon as it hits the shelves. Do not hesitate to ask the library staff to assist you the first time or to show you how this can be done from the comfort of your own home if you have Internet access.

New Books

Some of our new arrivals are:
Making Candles and

Potpourri by Catherine Bardley reveals the secrets of using candles and potpourri to set the perfect mood in any room.

Nature Crafts With a Microwave by Dawn Cusick shows great projects that allow you to use the materials you've collected outdoors.

The Handmade Book by Angela James - you'll learn the basic techniques of book-binding and how to create your own notebooks, journals, albums and portfolios.

Wreaths by Richard Kollath offers creative ideas for year round.

Great Garden Shortcuts offers hundreds of all-new tips and techniques that guarantee you'll save time, money and work.

Growing 101 Herbs That Heal - gardening techniques, recipes and remedies.

Important Reminder:

Although our library does not charge overdue fines, if you are borrowing materials from other libraries in the area, many do charge overdue fines. Please keep this in mind when borrowing and returning materials.

The new system allows for sharing patron information with other libraries, so if you have overdue fines on your patron record, that information will be there no matter what library you choose to visit.

Thank You!

Thank you to everyone who has generously donated books and videos to the library. Also thank you to my volunteers, Amelia Jasinsky, Faye Smith and Lena Stepa who do such a great job of running the library while I am away.

Faith

Transforming a nation

By Lesley Quist

Elk Point Baptist Church

On April 6, over 12,000 young people gathered together in the Edmonton Skyreach Centre for a Christian event called YC (Youth Convention). Thirty-three of these young people were from Elk Point. What would entice so many young people to attend such an event? Perhaps the several top name bands in Christian music that performed, such as Delirious, Jennifer Knapp and Rebecca St. James. Or it could have been the tremendous speakers that spoke to the young people, Lori Salierno and Joshua Harris. But could it have been that there were over 12,000 youth that simply hungered for more of God?

As we entered the Skyreach Centre we heard hundreds of kids from either side of the coliseum chanting back and forth, "We love Jesus, yes we do. We love Jesus, how about you?" This continued until the program started with the national anthem and prayer. Music followed and then Lori Salierno gave a stirring message on the crucifixion of Christ. How Christ came and suffered and died for each one of us so that we could once again have fellowship with God. To close her message, she had the entire coliseum kneel by their chairs and anyone who wanted to have a relationship with Jesus Christ was given the chance to say a prayer of salvation. Over 200 kids responded.

The following day the convention began with worship and Joshua Harris spoke on how Jesus cares and loves us. In the afternoon there were games and sessions to attend, and the evening was filled with singing and praise. Following this, Lori Salierno encouraged the crowd to be a generation to do great things for God. She challenged us to bring people to Christ, one person at a time.

Sunday was the last day of the convention. With over 1000 more youth becoming saved, the young people came to their feet and there arose a great applause and shouts of praise to God that lasted several minutes. YC ended with the entire coliseum singing the national anthem as a prayer, that they were going to leave that convention having grown closer to God, and with the passion to transform the nation of Canada for Christ.
